

THE AURORA

Energetic electrons travel along the geomagnetic field lines towards the polar regions, striking the upper atmosphere, resulting in the display of lights called aurora.

